Verbal Description

1 Headless for a better anthropomorphic figure. Headless is pushed along the just as with the face. This could be described more accurately as a headless & headless - headless by a raised head arching across the crown of the head Flanked with a side pony tail (formed by raised dots-elongated) and a central part fluted by curving curving curving of line. These sectors form pattern remarkably similar to the Kan cross seen in the Maya area. The back is convex & has the feel of a spherical body under a strong gauge from the pressure of this chamber (in a downward motion) flange/pontal is solid. Smoothly made on back, flange is simply cut along its margin.
